

red

Red is the third favored color among people worldwide

Red light therapy promotes wound healing and tissue repair by energizing slow healing cells in the body, mainly helping treat skin repairs

In asia red is considered good luck

orange

Orange is the fifth favored color among people worldwide

Orange light therapy relieves nervous tension, helps increase appetite when depressed, relieve muscle cramps and spasms and strengthen the immune system

Orange is a very engaging color but in design it is used to set objects aside and give off warnings

yellow

Yellow is the sixth favored color among people worldwide

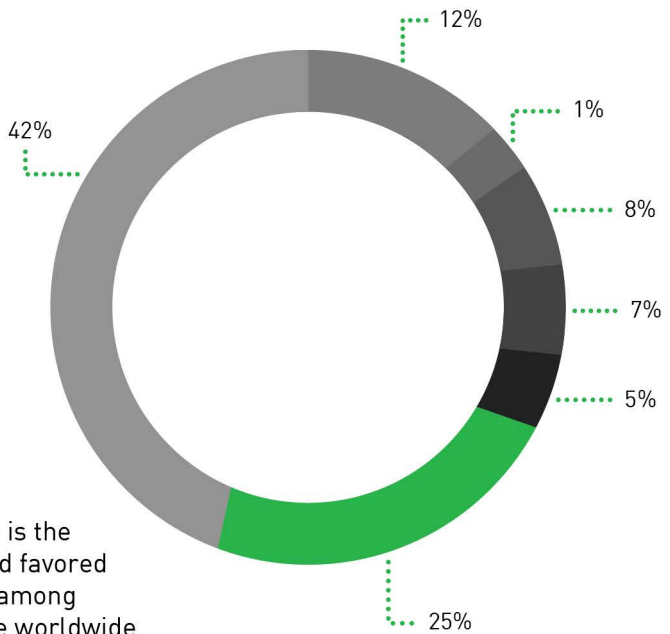

Yellow light therapy purifies skin help with indigestion, strengthen the nervous system, treat glandular diseases, hepatitis and lymphatic disorders and assist metabolism

Yellow can make you feel happier and can bring out your intelligence and wisdom green.

Green is the second favored color among people worldwide

Green light therapy promotes general healing, restoration and balance helping ease pain in patients and is the most balancing among colors

When you're feeling depressed, green can improve your mood

blue

Blue is the most favored color among people worldwide

Blue light therapy promotes relaxation
Blue exhibits tranquilizing qualities often used to relieve headaches and migraines, colds, stress, nervous tension, rheumatism, stomach pains, muscle cramps and liver disorders

Blue is the color of the sky and sea. It is often associated with depth and stability purple

Purple is the third favored color among people worldwide

Purple light therapy calms the nervous system, soothe organs and relax muscles having a meditative quality

Purple symbolizes wealth royalty, and imagination